The Auditor's Report Showing the Condition of the State Finances. Increase of Indebtedness and a Call for Higher Taxes

The Auditor's Report, which we published without comment in a recent at ber, presents anything but a pleasant prospect to the tax-ridden people of the State. It shows that her financial condition has been growing from bad to worse ever since the inauguration of Radical rule in January, 1870. At that time the indebtedness of the State as represented by outstanding warrants was but little over $200,000, Now, it has increased to $1,146,521 in warrants, bonds and outstanding Alcorn-Musgrove issues; and this, too, for the ordinary documents prepared by interested parties, purposes of the State government, and at a rate of taxation unparalleled in op-

In proof that the financial situation is growing worse not withstanding the enormous taxation, the report demonstrates that the expenditures for the year 1871, were $1,729,046, and that the excess of longer and more bitter experience of disbursements over receipts was $390,-Radical legislation; and all classes will 895, which is the sum the State has ex-
